DELA

Benedetta Ruspini

In a society always more connected and globalized it is fundamental to understand the importance of cultural integration.

Dela is a sideboard that wants to create awareness about the phenomena of immigration and celebrate the opportunities that integration of different cultures arises. The main elements of the sideboard are the doors that are sliding in four different levels. Each door represents, through a pattern or fabric, the visual identity of a specific country. When the doors overlap each other, the shapes and colors from different countries overlap each other creating every time a new and interesting aesthetic of the product and showing that the magic happens at the moment you integrate differences.

The doors can be easily replaced to personalize the furniture.
