

“diner’s dilemma”

Debating pervasive surveillance

Moritz Schewe

Let’s bring to the table and reignite the debate on surveillance dangers regarding personal freedom and privacy

Through a conceptual restaurant setting where everyday objects are equipped with spying technology, the project intends to provoke critical reflection on the monitoring degree and obviousness that individuals are willing to tolerate.